

From: [REDACTED]
To: Clean Cars
Subject: Polluting cars
Date: Friday, 16 August 2019 3:26:29 PM

---

To whom,
its time to heavily tax larger vehicles especially new and newly imported through increased registration costs.
Lower registration fees should be available for smaller cars.
Significant tax benefits to electric vehicles.
All employers should offer schemes that enable their employees to buy/lease bikes, ebikes and scooters.
Public transport should be subsidised to zero cost by the government.
Improve cycling infrastructure so it becomes possible to cycle the length and breadth of the country without having to cycle on a road.
Create more bike friendly roads - lowering speed limits, speed bumps, signage and disambiguation of the road.
Car sharing apps should be encouraged with cars with more than 3 occupants given preferential treatment on certain roads (rush hour bus lanes).
Heavily discourage tourists through taxation from renting cars and campervans and encouraged to use public transport, bikes or walking Te Araroa.
Get more freight moving on trains - increase rail services for the public by combining passenger and freight as an option.
Speed limits on all our roads decreased to improve fuel efficiency (and safety).
Utes, vans and SUVs should be banned after 2025 for non-commercial use.
It should be compulsory for drivers and those intending to drive utes and SUVs to take a defensive driving course, that includes learning how to safely ride a bike, explaining why they need such a behemoth in light of their significant and selfish addition to climate change and prove that they can change their own diapers!
Regards,
Nathan

